

Lancaster Dollars for Higher Learning Testimonials

"My vision is to fly fighter jets for the U.S. Air Force, eventually to pursue a career in legislation."

—Ethan D., St. Joseph's University

"Thanks to you, I am one year closer to completing my aspirations of becoming a registered nurse. You have been so generous to help me make my career and life dreams come true and for that I could not be more thankful."

—Brandi S., York College

"Thanks to you, I was able to attend the small, private college that I knew was perfect for me. While there, I have been able to pursue my degree in both early childhood and special education, as well as have the opportunity to study abroad in Cork, Ireland for a semester."

—Jacklyn R., Juniata College

"I was able to pursue my dream of becoming a mechanical engineer thanks to the help of LDHL. You helped reduce the burden of tuition so I was able to more clearly focus on my learning. Thank you."

—Jeffrey W., Messiah College

"Throughout my college experiences I have grown in my intellect, maturity, faith, and personal relations. I am excited to continue on this great journey and graduate with a degree in education so that I can pass my acquired knowledge on to future generations. Thank you so much for your financial support!"

—Daniel R., Messiah College

"As a college student money is very tight and with your help I was able to lower my loan amounts! I plan to major in chemistry with a minor in chemical engineering. When I'm on the cusp of retirement, I want to look back and not only say, 'It was all worth it', but to see positive changes within my community and country that I had a hand in!"

—Wesley T., University of Pittsburgh

"With your help I am able to pursue my dream of becoming a certified athletic trainer. I want to work with young athletes who suffer head injuries and help them continue to pursue their dreams in athletics. Thank you!"

—Jordan C., West Chester University

"Thanks to you I am able to pursue a degree in mechanical engineering. I hope to graduate in under three years in order to work toward completing a master's degree in five years. After graduation, I hope to begin a career in the aerospace or automotive field."

President's Letter

September 2015

Dear Friends:

I want to again thank you for supporting our students with your time, generosity, and commitment to higher education.

It seems like every year has been more exciting than the last for Lancaster Dollars for Higher Learning (LDHL). In the past year, in addition to all of the other good things we have done, we have taken a few major steps. The most exciting is the hiring of a part-time Executive Director for LDHL. It was becoming clear to us that we needed to hire somebody who can take LDHL to the next level. The successful candidate was Ann Womble, past President of the Board.

One of the first things that she did was to provide an opportunity for our recipients, present and past, donors and other friends to volunteer at the US Open. This provided an opportunity to meet and connect and it helped to raise money for LDHL. We thank all of you who participated. She is also participating in community dialogue about increasing college access for Lancaster City residents.

Another change this year was to streamline our application process yet again to make it even easier to apply for a loan.

Next year will provide an opportunity to continue our growth. We are presently working on developing a new website and we plan to embark on strategic planning to take us into our next phase to provide more opportunities for Lancaster County residents. Thanks for being a part of this dynamic organization.

Sincerely,

Wanda S. Whare
 President

Mark Your Calendar for November 20!

SUPPORT OUR ORGANIZATION DURING

THE EXTRA GIVE™ ORDINARY

On November 20, donate online at ExtraGive.org and your generous gift will be stretched by $250,000 from the Lancaster County Community Foundation and sponsors. Plus, just by donating, you could help us win EXTRA from the $50,000 prize pool!

NOVEMBER 20 EXTRAGIVE.ORG

LDHL is undertaking a number of new initiatives to make the experience for loan recipients and donors a more streamlined and user-friendly process. To that end, we're turning to YOU, our valued supporters and past loan beneficiaries, to help us spread the word about our fund-raising campaign for the Extraordinary Give, which will be held all day on Nov. 20, 2015.

Where will this money go, you may ask? First and foremost, it'll go to our help students achieve their dreams. However, it will also go to assist us in launching our NEW WEBSITE, which we expect to unveil at the end of October. So stay tuned to LancDollars.org to watch the transformation unfold.

In the meantime, like us on Facebook and follow us on twitter at @LancDollars, where we'll be providing lots of updates about our ExtraGive effort between now and Nov. 20.

Remember, every dollar you give us on the day of the Extraordinary Give goes further than a typical donation because of the Lancaster County Community Foundation's added assistance.

Building Dreams Interest-Free

Lancaster Dollars Welcomes New Board Members

Lancaster Dollars is pleased to announce that the following four Directors have joined the Board recently. Each brings critical skills and valuable experience which will help LDHL to move forward in its mission of providing financial resources to Lancaster County residents in support of their post-secondary educational goals.

Jean Bednarski

Jean Bednarski has an extensive background in fundraising, association management and marketing. She is currently Director of Community Advancement at Pleasant View Retirement Community. Following retirement from fundraising at Dickinson College, she shared her experience as Executive Director of the York County Bar Association and Foundation by assisting with the development of the Foundation of the Lancaster Bar Association. Her current position working back in Lancaster County has allowed more time to become a more active volunteer on community boards of directors.

Adam Bills is a graduate of Millersville University with studies in history and government. He worked for several years in the offices of State Representatives Aument and Cutler. Presently District Director for Senator Aument, Adam served as the Executive Director of the Republican Committee of Lancaster County. Adam enjoys national and local politics, modern America history, and following Philadelphia sports teams.

Adam Bills

Brian Hazlett

Brian Hazlett is currently the Vice President for Student Affairs & Enrollment Management at Millersville University. Brian has over 18 years of higher education experience working in both undergraduate and graduate admissions at three different institutions – Philadelphia University, Binghamton University and Towson University. Brian is an alumnus of Saint Francis University of Pennsylvania and holds a Bachelor of Arts degree and a Masters of Arts degree from Binghamton University, State University of New York. Brian resides in York, Pa., with his wife and two daughters.

Lisa Lewis has taught all levels of high school English over the last 16 years in York, Lancaster, and Maryland, receiving numerous honors in her field, including four-time Teacher of the Year and Outstanding Educator in Howard County, MD. A graduate of Wake Forest University and Lancaster's J.P. McCaskey High School, Lisa also spent two years working for the vice president and government lobbyist for Boys and Girls Clubs of America. Her career began in broadcasting, working for ten years at WTTG-TV, Fox Television Stations, in Washington, D.C. Retired from teaching in May, Lisa looks forward to having more time for tennis, running, and pleasure reading. She lives in Lancaster with her husband Dave and their three Labrador retrievers.

Interview with graduate Cameron Hall

1. Tell us about your college experience.

Overall I enjoyed college at Carnegie Mellon University, but I won't say it was a wonderful, fantastic experience the whole time. The academics and workload at my university were extremely stressful and I struggled on several occasions. Thankfully, I found several outlets in extracurriculars that I threw myself into. These all made the experience completely worthwhile because I learned way more about myself than I could have in the engineering program and I became a better person, all the while having fun and meeting great people.

2. Did you always want to be an engineer?

No, definitely not. Originally I was thinking of pursuing architecture in high school after taking several drafting/CAD classes. But I can't draw very well and always had a knack for math and problem-solving. So when I started applying for programs, engineering became a natural choice. Now I have a job where I use my background in 3-D modeling everyday.

3. What did you do during your summers in college?

I worked every summer but never obtained an internship and didn't have any real interest in research, so I worked general labor jobs each summer. The first two summers I worked for companies back home on third shift, then later I stayed in Pittsburgh and worked campus jobs. Third shift jobs aren't something I'd recommend, but the final one as a machine shop assistant ended up being extremely beneficial for obtaining the job I currently have.

4. How did you get your present job?

I applied for an internship with Raytheon my senior year and made it through the initial rounds, but did not get the position. During my fifth year (grad) the recruiter I interviewed with the year before simply passed my resume on to a manager with openings and that was it. The manager flew me out for an interview and told me I'd be receiving an offer. A few weeks later HR contacted me and handled everything from there.

5. What other forms of financial assistance did you obtain to help pay for college?

All of my aid other than Lancaster Dollars was federal, state, and university grants and loans. Besides those, I worked several student employee positions from my sophomore year through graduation.

6. What advice do you have for high school students in Lancaster County?

If you're lucky enough to know what you want to do for a living, work hard and know that doing what you enjoy for a career will make it all worth it. If you're like me and don't have a clue, work hard to improve your situation because you will find your way and can always do more.

PS -- There's a lot outside of Lancaster County, so even if you LOVE the area go explore even for a little while; it'll make you a better person.

Scholars Awarded Endowment Loans

Lancaster Dollars for Higher Learning is thrilled to recognize the recipients of the endowed loans for the 2015-2016 academic year. These Lancaster County students' academic and extra-curricular contributions paved the way for this special recognition. These awards serve as recognition of both the generosity of our donors and their commitment to aiding Lancaster County students in their post-secondary educational pursuits.

Danielle Bland

Danielle Bland, a Hempfield High School graduate, is the recipient of the William and Violet Dussinger Endowment Loan. An accomplished three-sport athlete in high school, Danielle also tutored students and won several Advanced Placement art awards. Danielle will continue her rewarding track career at Emory University while pursuing a biology degree on the pre-med path.

Sarah Brubaker has been awarded the Edith Smith Truxal Scholarship Loan.

This Conestoga Valley High School graduate intends to major in Spanish at Millersville University; she recently returned from a ten-month study abroad in Portugal. Sarah was very active in high school theater productions and volunteered as a teacher's assistant for Sunday school at her church.

Sarah Brubaker

Ryan Burkholder

A National Honor Society member at Ephrata Senior High School, Ryan Burkholder will pursue an engineering degree at Penn State Berks. Ryan, a high school soccer and volleyball team member and church volunteer, is the recipient of the Dr. Lawrence A. Ezard Memorial Endowment Award.

Skyler Ehly hopes a computer science degree from Gettysburg College is merely the launching point for his higher education goals. This Cocalico High School graduate loves all things music, playing in several bands in college, and would love to study abroad in Budapest. The Pryor E. and Arlene R. Neuber Endowment Loan has been awarded to Skyler.

Skyler Ehly

Christopher Eyer

A Lancaster Catholic High School graduate, Christopher Eyer has received the Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Weaver Endowment Loan. Christopher is pursuing an agricultural engineering technology degree from State University of New York Cobleskill; additionally, the university provides him with summer internships at John Deere dealerships. Christopher aspires to "have a hands-on career in the agriculture industry and work on cutting edge technology" while he saves money to purchase his own 300 to 400-acre farm. In high school he volunteered at the Lancaster Occupational Development Center and was passionate about his participation in all stage productions.

The Ronald and Patricia Tweed Scholarship Loan

went to Veritas Academy graduate Rebecca Forbes. Active in choir and theater in school, Rebecca was also president of student government as a senior. She will major in both business and Spanish at Lycoming College, hoping to become an interpreter in a business setting after graduation.

Rebecca Forbes

Amanda Graber

Amanda Graber plans to pursue an accounting degree from the University of Pittsburgh and become a certified public accountant. This Warwick High School graduate also wants to participate in collegiate cross country and track after her leadership role in those sports in high school. Amanda, a National Honor Society member, also cherishes community service, participating in Interact Club, Future Business Leaders of America, and the Awareness for Substance Abuse Prevention organization. She is the recipient of the David and Tamela Fasnacht Scholarship Loan.

Pequea Valley High School graduate Ethan S. Hoover was awarded the E. Ann Klein Charitable Trust Endowment Award.

Ethan will join his older brother on the soccer team at Penn State Harrisburg while he works toward a degree in structural design and construction engineering technology. Ethan was a member of Pequea Valley's first-ever state championship soccer team in 2012.

Ethan Hoover

Grace Kensinger

The Margaret Gordon Lestz Endowment Loan recipient is Grace Kensinger, a Manheim Central High School graduate. Music performance is Grace's field of study at Lancaster Bible College as she eventually hopes to practice music therapy. Active in extra-curriculars in high school, this National Honor Society and National English Honor Society member was also a member of student council and Future Farmers of America, participating in 4-H for over seven years.

"With the continuing rise of college costs and interest rates, you afforded my son the ability to know exactly what he would owe when he completed his college career, which will be exactly what he borrowed from you! It is refreshing not to have to give something (interest) to get something, just to experience good old-fashioned support for future generations. Thank you!"

—Christine M., a grateful parent

"Thanks to you, I am finishing up my degrees in neuroscience and psychology. Next May, I will graduate intending to continue my education in the medical field. Thank you for making my dreams become a reality!"

—Kaitlin G., Temple University

"You have permitted me to pursue my passion for serving others as I pursue my undergraduate degree with the goal of attending medical school. Thanks!"

—Andrew G., Denison University

Kaitlyn Lapp

University of Pennsylvania student Kaitlyn Lapp is very active in Penn Faith and Action, a group focusing on developing Christian leaders. A Lampeter-Strasburg High School graduate, Kaitlyn also volunteers with Big Brothers Big Sisters in West Philadelphia. Kaitlyn received The William Klein, Jr. Endowment Loan.

Mackenzie Lausch was awarded the Estate of Paul and Genevieve Diller Endowment Loan as she pursues a physical therapy major at Lebanon Valley College, hoping to “help children and their families overcome obstacles.” During her years at Hempfield High School, Mackenzie was a senior captain of the cross country team while very active in her youth group. Multiple mission trips provided her with many “life-changing experiences.”

Mackenzie Lausch

Majoring in both business management and German at the University of Richmond, Joshua Martin is the recipient of the Elwood Bookman Estate Endowment Loan. Upon graduation, Joshua hopes to work either in Germany or for a German-American company that affords him the opportunity to travel. At Pequea Valley High School, he played four years of soccer and was very active in his youth group.

Willonda Brianna McCloud loved her volunteer work with Habitat for Humanity and her time on the girls’ basketball team while a McCaskey High School student. Willonda hopes to intern at a retail company while working toward her business administration degree at LaSalle University. The R.D. and Rhoda Buckwalter Endowment Loan was awarded to Willonda.

Willonda Brianna McCloud

“You helped me attend both college and law school and earn my dream job at a top law firm in New York City. I’m very grateful for your generosity. Thanks.”

—Lynnndon G., Univ. of Pennsylvania & Boston College Law

Sarah Beth Ranck

Penn Manor High School graduate Sarah Beth Ranck is striving for a mathematics degree at Eastern Mennonite University. The recipient of the Gray Playter Memorial Endowment Loan, Sarah is incredibly active in her church and volunteers her time at the Mennonite Home where she loves helping the residents who “share their stories and lessons” with her. Her high school pursuits included membership in the Christian club First Priority and on the Test of Engineering Aptitude, Mathematics and Science team while gaining leadership skills as president of the National Honor Society during her senior year.

As an aerospace engineering major at Syracuse University, Bruno Regalado hopes to pursue a master’s degree at Purdue and eventually do his “part in advancing humanity’s space exploration technology.” At Manheim Township High School, Bruno actively participated in the Amnesty International Club and in the MiniTHON fundraiser. Bruno was awarded the Dr. Mary Elizabeth Dixon Scholarship Loan.

Bruno Regalado

Alexander Sallade

Music is Manheim Township High School graduate Alexander Sallade’s life. The recipient of the Binns Scholarship Loan, Alexander is pursuing music education at the University of Delaware, planning to become a high school teacher/band director and eventually a college music professor. He was involved in band, orchestra, and choir in high school, including participation in the PMEA band and orchestra festivals.

The Frances Sarkisian Trust Endowment Loan was presented to Nicholas Andrew Smith, a Solanco High School graduate who is seeking an engineering degree at Drexel University. At Solanco, Nicholas was president of the Spanish Honor Society, played sports and honed his strong work ethic at several part-time jobs. Nicholas remarks that his goal is to “live modestly and happily in a career that fulfills my interests and helps humanity as a whole.”

Nicholas Andrew Smith

“Because of your interest free loans for our son, we will be able to stay in our home. Does that sound drastic? We think so, and we are very appreciative. After consolidating the loans we incurred to pay for college, we can just afford the monthly payment. Without those additional dollars from DHL, we would have had to borrow more, and the monthly consolidation payments would have been difficult for us to meet. Thank you, DHL, for giving an educational opportunity to our talented son!”

—Ellen F, a grateful parent

Next spring, Katelyn Snader will graduate from the Pennsylvania College of Health Sciences with an associate’s degree in nursing. This Garden Spot High School graduate then desires to work in geriatrics or pediatrics while she obtains her bachelor’s degree online. The recipient of the Dr. Emmett Cooper Endowment Loan, Katelyn traveled on mission trips to Costa Rica and Montana and held captainships on both the volleyball and basketball teams in high school.

Katelyn Snader

Jenna Walmer

Jenna Walmer plans to major in both global studies and religion while minoring in peace studies at Bridgewater College. The Steinman Foundation Endowment Loan awardee, Jenna has future goals of attending seminary and ultimately becoming a peace studies professor. At Donegal High School she was active in her church youth group and was involved in swimming, marching band, Rhythm Singers, and jazz band.

Awarded the William S. Rothermel Foundation Scholarship Loan, Keeton Yost is a Lampeter-Strasburg High School graduate who is now majoring in industrial design at the University of Cincinnati. Keeton’s wish is to “design products that will simplify the lives of the people who use them...so they can focus on the important issues in their lives.” A tech team volunteer at LCBC church, Keeton was active in Madrigal Singers, chorus, spring musicals, Art Club, and soccer in high school.

Keeton Yost

2015 Interest-Free Loans for Lancaster County Students

Within the past month, Lancaster Dollars for Higher Learning's 2015 interest-free loan recipients have scattered to 21 of the 50 United States (plus the District of Columbia). They are enjoying academic adventures throughout the country from Maine to South Carolina, from Michigan to Texas, and from Maryland to California.

All 422 students have several things in common however; they are all Lancaster County students with a thirst for knowledge being aided by Lancaster Dollars for Higher Learning. Interest-free loans totaling $702,100 were available to award these students in 2015 because of the generosity of LDHL's donors and the incredibly high repayment rate of previous loan recipients.

As we are all too aware, average tuition increases at all institutions of post-secondary education – public and private - have far outpaced annual inflation. Therefore LDHL's mission to assist families cope with these rising costs becomes more critical each year. The chart on the above shows that the top ten schools chosen by LDHL 2015 loan recipients all were based right here in Pennsylvania. The remaining 64 colleges represented by this year's loan recipients are located in 20 other states and DC. Whether the student is attending one of the 79 Pennsylvania colleges chosen by many of this year's awarded students or is traveling much farther afield to find the perfect institution of higher learning for his/her interests and talents, LDHL is proud to help with the cost of the student's education.

Statistically, those applicants awarded this year's interest-free educational loans reflect various demographics and academic majors, as well as where they have chosen to pursue a higher education:

- Approximately 92% of the 422 interest-free loan recipients attend four-year colleges, while 13 of the students are enrolled at vocational-technical schools, 9 study at community colleges, and 6 pursue graduate degrees.
- Women received 58% of the loans awarded, and men received 42%.
- 111 of the 114 first-time loan recipients represent 25 Lancaster County public and private high schools, while the remaining three students were home schooled (see chart at left).

Your amazing generosity has made these dreams possible. Thank you!

"As a parent of 2 loan recipients, I know for a fact of the importance of this loan to students. Since not all families are approved for government funding, you have given my children a boost when it comes time for tuition payments. I love to tell others of the great nature of these loans and their availability to all types of applicants."

–Stacy H., a grateful parent
